MEDICINAL.

LOVE

Often leads to poverty. No real woman ever sold her heart for the luxuries of life. But many a woman who has gladly faced poverty for the man she loved, may well doubt her wisdom when pain becomes the mate of poverty. If she were rich, she thinks, she could find a way of cure.

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

The proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States for any case of Leucorrhoea, Female Weakness, Protrusion, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"You have my heartfelt thanks for your kind advice to me," writes Mrs. Geo. Fletcher, of 146 Victoria Avenue, Galt, Ontario. "Was troubled with catarrh of uterus for over a year. The doctors said I would have to go through an operation, but I commenced to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' also his 'Lotion Tablets' and 'Antiseptic and Healing Suppositories.' Now I am completely cured, after using six bottles of Dr. Pierce's medicine. I am glad to say my medicine has made me a new woman."

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., by letter, free. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are easy and pleasant to take. A most effective laxative.

WOMAN AND BABE MURDERED.

It is the accepted theory at New Castle, Ind., that three men were concerned in the murder of Mrs. William M. Starbuck and her baby while her husband was absent from their home, near Greensboro, last Saturday night. Two suspects, Haley Gipe, twenty years old, and William Lockridge are under arrest, and another young man is being watched by the sheriff's deputies. Gipe is a farmer and Lockridge lives in Greensboro.

Between her struggles with her assailant, Mrs. Starbuck made two despairing efforts to call for help by telephone. Her murderer wrestled the receiver from her grasp. The nearest neighbor, a mile away, who was at her telephone, plainly heard the sounds of violence and a woman's shriek for mercy. Then followed a silence so intense that the ticking of a clock on the wall near the telephone a mile away was distinctly audible.

Haley Gipe is in the Henry county jail, and there is a disposition to lynch him.

Before her death yesterday morning Mrs. Starbuck said, as her husband lifted her in his arms: "He came in by that window and dragged me out that way." She was sinking fast. "Who did it?" asked her husband, bending down to catch the faintest gasp. She did not hear him or did not understand. "Why didn't they answer? Twice I tried to call by telephone." These were her last words.

In the presence of the bodies of his wife and four months' old daughter, found and dragged from a cistern, the half-crazed husband and father made a vow of vengeance. "I will take no rest until the ones guilty of this awful crime have been punished," he said, lifting his hand and then kissing the faces of his wife and child.

Starbuck believes that Gipe is guilty. It was chiefly through his urging that the arrest was made. Gipe has been in jail for fighting.

The post-mortem yesterday developed that Mrs. Starbuck's death was due to hemorrhage of the lungs, caused by her repeated screams of help, when she stood to her armpits in the water in the abandoned cistern where she was thrown. The baby was drowned. It had been found head first in the water. It is supposed that, as she was dragged from the window, Mrs. Starbuck caught her baby in her arms.

Starbuck has left his desolate home, and is with his father, Henry Starbuck, in Greensboro. He was too grief-stricken to discuss the crime at length but said: "I and my friends believe Gipe is guilty. The law will take its course, but no penalty can be severe enough for the fiend who killed that innocent woman and her baby."

Gipe, who is twenty years of age, may be innocent, but his actions were largely responsible for the first suspicion against him. He talked strangely of the crime; asserted many times that he could prove an alibi. This was before he was supposed to have known that he was under suspicion. Mrs. Charles Swain heard the woman's telephone call, one short and the two long rings. "She is the Starbuck's nearest neighbor, a mile away, and on the same phone. Thinking that it was a call for her, she took down the receiver. It was then that she heard the sound of a scuffle and a woman's cry for help."

Narrowly Escaped Lynching.

Shot down yesterday by one of his own countrymen, who had crept up behind him, Andrew Cuneo, member of the firm of Cuneo Bros., fruit dealers of Chicago, one of the best known fruit importers in the United States, and said to be the richest Italian in Chicago, is dying at Passavant Hospital. His assailant, Anthony Crescio, narrowly escaped lynching by an angry mob that closed around him after the shooting. In less than a minute after the shooting a rope had been procured by someone in the crowd with which to hang Crescio, but the police, in response to a riot call that had been sent in, appeared on the scene just in time to save Crescio's life. For a time the police were unable to take Crescio away from the mob, but after a hard fight, in which clubs were freely used, Crescio was hustled into a patrol wagon and landed in jail. The shooting occurred in front of Cuneo's store, where Mr. Cuneo was busy receiving fruit. Crescio crept up behind Mr. Cuneo and drawing a revolver from his pocket shot the merchant twice before any of the dozen bystanders could interfere. One bullet took effect in the left temple, while the second penetrated the head near the base of the brain. Crescio, who is believed to be mentally unbalanced, was until yesterday morning employed by his brother, John Crescio, who has a wholesale fruit store a few doors from the house of Cuneo Brothers. J. H. Crescio, another brother of Mr. Cuneo's assailant, married a sister of Mr. Cuneo, and after living with her for a few years is said to have deserted her. It is believed that this, together with the keen business rivalry between his brother and Cuneo Brothers, were sufficient causes in the man's disordered brain for him to attempt to take Mr. Cuneo's life.
